The Art and Craft of Blending Tea

Tea blending is, at its heart, an exercise in understanding — understanding the leaf, its origin, the season it was harvested, and most importantly, how its flavor notes will converse with one another. For centuries, blenders have combined teas not to obscure their character, but to reveal it more fully.

OUR TEA PACKAGING

Our teas are packed in a variety of gram-weight sizes, including a sample size that yields approximately three to six cups of tea. Samples provide a great opportunity to try our teas and find new favorites.

Our silver polyfoil packets are heat-sealed to preserve freshness. Smaller sizes include a convenient resealable closure. When ordering the largest-size packets (-H and -K), we recommend dispensing a portion of the tea into a small canister, which can serve for daily use. Select teas are also offered in a plug-top, British-style tea tin (-T). We suggest ordering only the amount of tea that will be consumed in three to six months.

We will gladly personalize your tea packet with your name or the name of your gift recipient. This personalization is free of charge and adds a wonderful personal touch to your tea.

Derived from plant-based starch, our packaging “peanuts” are 100% biodegradable in warm water or your compost. Our boxes are made from 100% recycled material.

A Note to our Valued Customers:

As we start the new year, a fresh tea season is upon us, beginning with the arrival of our Kairbetta Estate SFTGFOP1 2026 ‘Winter Frost’ Nilgiri (page 12). In addition to the ‘Winter Frost’ tea, we are delighted to offer eight new teas for you to sip and enjoy. Follow the  throughout this quarterly to identify the new teas. First flush Darjeelings will begin arriving soon and continue into March. As always, we look forward to discovering and sharing the finest offerings of the new harvest season for your enjoyment.

In this issue of our Upton Tea Quarterly, we are exploring The Art and Craft of Blending Tea — a practical skill that has evolved into a time-honored tradition. As featured in the article (page 38): “Blending remains one of the most rewarding ways to explore tea. Single-estate teas can express singular personalities, shaped by place and craft. Blending, on the other hand, invites those personalities into conversation — allowing strength to support delicacy, brightness to lift depth, and aroma to complete the cup.” We invite you to settle in with your favorite cup of tea and enjoy this deep dive into the world of tea blending.

We thank you — our Valued Customers — for sharing the extraordinary journey of tea with us.

Happy tea drinking,

FEATURED FLORAL FAVORITES

CHINA WHITE JASMINE SILVER NEEDLES

This premium Jasmine Silver Needle white tea is made entirely of the tender buds of a large leaf cultivar from the spring harvest in Yunnan province. These young buds are then naturally scented with fresh jasmine flowers over five consecutive nights. The sugar-sweet aroma of this loose leaf Chinese silver needle tea is redolent with a sublime jasmine/osmanthus fragrance. The pale golden cup is light and airy with a pronounced jasmine scent, reminiscent of a lush garden's fragrance at the height of summer. A silky smooth, refreshing finish completes a memorable tea experience.

ZJ98S 8g sample $7.50      ZJ98 40g packet $35.50

FLORAL HUANG JIN GUI

With a light oxidation level of less than 20 percent, this premium Oolong is produced in Anxi County of Fujian province. The name Huang Jin Gui translates to golden osmanthus, referring to the cup's light gold hue and osmanthus-like aroma and flavor.

ZO21S 15g sample $3.25      ZO21D 250g packet $24.00
ZO21 125g packet $13.25

JASMINE DRAGON PHOENIX PEARL ORGANIC

This rare offering is produced from carefully selected leaf sets, consisting of buds and tender first-leaf sets. It is then scented with the highest-quality jasmine blossoms, which are later painstakingly removed to ensure that the quality of the leaf is represented in the cup.

ZJ91S 15g packet $9.25      ZJ91D 250g packet $89.00
ZJ91 125g packet $47.25

MAGNOLIA BLOSSOM OOLONG

This Guangdong province specialty is a lovely Oolong tea, scented with magnolia flowers. Alternately known as Orchid Oolong, or Yu Lan, this selection is a must-try for those who appreciate a premium scented tea. The flavor nuances are unique, but hints of jasmine lend a recognizable character.

ZM65S 15g sample $4.75      ZM65D 250g packet $41.75
ZM65 125g packet $24.00

ROSE FLAVORED CHINA BLACK CONGOU

This naturally flavored black tea combines the lovely scent and flavor of rose with the toasty, earthy character of a premium China Congou. The captivating floral aroma is complemented by a hint of warming spices and sugary sweetness. The smooth cup has a rich mouthfeel with a nuance of ripe fruit, which provides the perfect accent to the rose flavor that lingers in the soft, clean finish.

SINGLE-ESTATE ASSAM TEAS

HALMARI ESTATE GFBOP CLONAL SPL (2025 OR-295) ASSAM With its abundance of golden tips and deep ruby-amber liquor, this 2025 Assam selection offers a striking appearance and lively, full-bodied cup. The malty aroma exudes an inviting bouquet with notes of Burgundy and aged oak, complemented by a toffee-like sweetness. Rich notes of malt are enhanced by its complex flavor and full mouthfeel. This eye-opening Assam finishes with a crisp, dry wine-like astringency, completing an exemplary tea experience.		TA191S Sample $4.00	TA191 100g $30.50	TA191D 200g $58.00
MELENG ESTATE FTGFOP1 CLO SPL (2025 OR-589) ASSAM Rooted in a century-plus tradition as one of Assam's oldest tea gardens, the Meleng Estate produces high-quality Assam teas from rare clonal varieties. From its rich aroma to its hearty, full-bodied cup, this 2025 offering speaks eloquently of that legacy. Hints of bittersweet cocoa mingle with sweet, malty nuances in the fragrant scent. A smooth-as-velvet mouthfeel embraces a honeyed character, layered with complex notes of cocoa, malt, Burgundy, and oak. The dry finish lingers with a red wine astringency and a trace of spice. In this 2025 offering, beautiful golden tips adorn chunky, dark brown leaves that infuse a deep copper cup with complex aroma and flavor. Fragrant with suggestions of freshly baked chocolate cake and complemented by hints of malt and spice, the velvety liquor imparts pronounced cocoa notes, enhanced by a splash of milk, if desired. The finish lingers and uplifts with a citrus-like zest.	TA193S Sample $3.00	TA193 125g $21.00	TA193D 250g $40.00

NILGIRI DISTRICT BLACK TEAS
Grown on small tea farms tucked into the mountains at the southern tip of India, Nilgiri black teas offer exceptionally smooth, bright flavor. Their unique terroir — hilly altitudes in a subtropical setting — gives them two annual tea-plucking seasons, which fall in between the famous Indian monsoons.
GLENDALE ESTATE 'ORANGE TWIST' NILGIRI Perched at elevations ranging 5,400 to 7,000 feet in the Nilgiri Hills of southern India, the Glendale Estate offers this distinctive black tea with long, twisted leaves that steep a beautiful amber liquor. The light toasty aroma is fragrant with hints of almond and oak, complemented by a sweet smoky whisper. The bright, lively cup refreshes with notes of stone fruit, citrus, and almond. Hints of spice bring a bittersweet nuance to the lingering finish.			TN71S Sample $4.25	TN71 80g $30.50	TN71D 160g $58.00

TEAS OF SIKKIM
TEMI ESTATE FTGFOP1 CH (2025) SIKKIM Established in 1969, the Temi Estate is the only tea garden in the Indian state of Sikkim, located north of Darjeeling. The tea is grown at 4,000 to 7,000 feet, on the slopes of Tendong Hill, in the foothills of the Himalayan mountains. Threaded with a profusion of golden tips, the attractive, well-made leaves of this outstanding 2025 selection produce a rich, fruity cup with a sweet, toasty aroma. Hints of ripe apple enhance the fragrance while complementing the velvety smoothness of the dark amber liquor. Notes of ripe stone fruit combine with hints of spice and pear to linger in the smooth, clean finish.			TS68S Sample $3.00	TS68 100g $21.25	TS68D 200g $44.75

TEAS OF NEPAL
Situated high in the Himalayas, Nepal has a climate similar to that of the Darjeeling region of India. Our selection of Nepal teas hails from the verdant rolling hills of the eastern Ilam district, a region that has mastered the art of tea cultivation. Nepal black teas are rich and inviting, with flavor profiles similar to Darjeeling teas — fragrant, flowery first flush and rich, muscatel second flush.
KUWAPANI ESTATE GOLDEN TIPS (2024 HB-52) NEPAL A pronounced fruity character distinguishes this gold-tipped black tea selection from the Kuwapani Estate of Nepal. The well-twisted leaves steep a medium amber cup with a candy-sweet scent that hints of apple and spice. A buttery mouthfeel embraces notes of dried fruit and honey. A whisper of melon lingers in the finish, completing a delightful tea experience.			TM106S Sample $3.75	TM106 60g $25.25
SAKHIRA ESTATE SECOND FLUSH SFTGFOP1 TIPPY (2025) NEPAL In this exceptional 2025 second flush selection from Nepal, finely crafted, dark brown leaves are accented by small golden tips. The dark amber liquor is appealingly aromatic, exhibiting a stone fruit sweetness complemented by toasty oak nuances. A lush bouquet of muscatel and ripe stone fruit notes fills the palate at first sip. Gentle notes of honey lend a silky sweetness to the rich, full-bodied cup, lingering in the smooth finish. ## TEAS OF AFRICA

KENYAN TEAS

The Kenya Highlands, located on both sides of the Great Rift Valley in Central Kenya, offer an ideal climate for growing tea all year: long, sunny days near the equator, volcanic red soil, and abundant rainfall. Their robust black teas, full-bodied like an Assam, are superb for breakfast. The unique purple tea cultivar, with high concentrations of anthocyanin and its antioxidant effects, was discovered 30 years ago, and is now cultivated by small-scale farmers and prized by many.

GOLDEN KENYA GFBOP

Sold in either bold broken-leaf or whole-leaf, depending upon availability. The cup has a full flavor and aroma, with a medium body. May be enjoyed on its own, but it is strong enough to accommodate a touch of milk. A brisk character with a hint of rose.

TK25S Sample $2.50	TK25 100g $7.25	TK25D 200g $13.00	TK25H 400g $23.75
---------------------------	------------------------	--------------------------	--------------------------

KENYA PURPLE LEAF TEA

This rare purple tea is grown at high altitudes in the Mount Kenya region of Kenya. High levels of anthocyanin, a flavonoid pigment also found in blueberries, cause the leaves to display a purple tinge. The pale purple-bronze cup exhibits pronounced juicy stone fruit notes in both the aroma and liquor. A sweet, earthy fragrance hints of a fresh garden and a ripe cantaloupe. A silky smooth mouthfeel supports a flavor profile layered with hints of tropical fruit, strawberries, and flowers. The finish is lively and lingering, with a nuance of crisp white wine. We offered this unique Kenyan purple tea in honor of our 35th anniversary.

MOZAMBICAN TEAS

Located on the southern coast of Africa, the Republic of Mozambique's fertile soil and temperate climate make it ideal for organic tea cultivation. The black teas produced are rich and full-bodied, with a toasty aroma and sweet, fruity flavor.

MOZAMBIQUE OP1 BLACK TEA ORGANIC

Cultivated at the Monte Metilile Estate on the lower slopes of Mount Namuli, this organic tea selection from Mozambique yields a velvety smooth, dark-amber liquor that is rich and full-bodied. A warm toasty aroma and dark sugar sweetness contribute to a satisfying cup with a substantial mouthfeel and lingering finish.

RWANDAN TEA

Another African country located in the Great Rift Valley of Eastern Africa is Rwanda, where tea growing started in 1952 and continues to increase. The high altitudes, mild climate, and volcanic soil conditions are ideal for tea cultivation, making tea one of Rwanda's biggest exports.

RUKERI ESTATE RWANDA BOP ORGANIC

The cup has a full flavor and aroma, with a medium body. May be enjoyed on its own, but it is strong enough to accommodate a touch of milk. Longer steeping times yield a robust cup with notes of rose and peppery hints.

TEAS OF COLOMBIA

Colombian teas are cultivated at over 6,000 feet above sea level in the exotic, beautiful, and peaceful Andes Mountains of Colombia. Bitaco Estate teas are grown and harvested in a sustainable environment, rich in minerals, within a pristine plantation. The tea plants are nourished by pure mountain water, resulting in exceptional organic teas.

COLOMBIAN BOLD BREAKFAST BLEND ORGANIC

This bold-leaf, breakfast-style black tea blend from Colombia has a warm aroma reminiscent of baking chocolate, with toasty hints. The dark amber cup is full-bodied and honey-sweet, with a creamy smooth mouthfeel that sets the stage for notes of rich cocoa and apricot. The finish is smooth and lingering.

TEAS OF CEYLON

Ceylon — or modern-day Sri Lanka — has one of the world’s oldest tea empires. Scottish tea planter James Taylor introduced the first tea plantation to Ceylon in 1867, where the teas thrived in the cool, humid climate. The tea-growing regions of Sri Lanka are clustered mostly among the mountains of the island’s central region and its southern foothills. Like the great wine-growing regions of France, the tea country of Sri Lanka is divided into seven strictly defined districts, each of which is known for producing teas of a particular character. Each district presents a unique combination of climate and terrain that leaves its mark on the tea it produces.

Our Great Tea Race Collection is a carefully curated collection of the highest-quality handcrafted teas from esteemed tea-growing regions around the world. It is named in honor of the Great Tea Race of 1866, when five of the fastest tea clippers set sail from Foochow, China, bound for London with their cargo holds filled with tea chests.

CHINA MANDARIN STUFFED WITH SHOU PU-ERH

Tiny mandarin oranges are dried and stuffed with Shou Pu-Erh leaves, creating this unique tea treat. The opaque, deep brown liquor is fragrant with hints of citrus zest and earth. A whisper of cocoa joins the citrus-earthy flavor in the cup, finishing on a brisk, lively note. Each 1½-inch mandarin will yield approximately 4 cups of tea. This selection is perfect for multiple steepings.

SPECIAL HONEY PHOENIX ORCHID OOLONG

Grown on Chaozhou Phoenix Mountain in Guangdong province at an altitude of 4,000 feet, this esteemed Chinese Oolong tea, also known as "Mi Lan Xiang," is plucked from a Dan Cong cultivar only once a year in the spring. The ultra-bold, hand-twisted leaves yield a velvety smooth, full-bodied cup with a pronounced stone fruit character. The complex aroma weaves layers of fragrance — floral, honey, citrus, nutty, toasty/biscuity — with a whisper of smoke. The clean finish lingers with an appealing fruity sweetness.

THE Art & Craft of Blending Tea

Tea blending is, at its heart, an exercise in understanding — understanding the leaf, its origin, the season it was harvested, and most importantly, how its flavor notes will converse with one another. For centuries, blenders have combined teas not to obscure their character, but to reveal it more fully. What began as a practical craft — balancing harvest variations, stabilizing flavor, and creating a reliable cup — grew into an honored tradition: a way to shape nuance, create harmony, and offer tea drinkers a profile that feels both familiar and refined.

Today, blending remains one of the most rewarding ways to explore tea. Single-estate teas can express singular personalities, shaped by place and craft. Blending, on the other hand, invites those personalities into conversation — allowing strength to support delicacy, brightness to lift depth, and aroma to complete the cup. Blending is not dilution; it's orchestration.

Why Tea Was Blended in the First Place

Before flavored teas and modern herbals came into fashion, blending served a practical purpose: maintaining flavor consistency. Merchants in Europe needed a dependable cup, even as harvests changed from season to season. A robust Assam might be softened with a bright Ceylon; a delicate Darjeeling could be steadied with a touch of Chinese black tea.

Over time, these blends became traditions in their own right — especially breakfast teas. They weren't created to be flashy, but rather to be reliable: brisk, balanced cups meant to pair with hearty meals and start the day with clarity.

As blending evolved, it also became an expressive art form. Blenders began creating signature profiles with intention — offering vigor for the morning, comfort for the afternoon, and reflection for the evening. The best blends don't simply combine ingredients; they create a specific mood or feeling.

How a Blend Works: The Principles of Flavor

A successful blend considers more than taste. It balances multiple sensory elements so the cup feels layered, complete, and memorable.

Aroma is the first invitation — what you smell before the sip reaches the palate. It sets an expectation and awakens the senses.

Body is the tea's presence in the mouth — its weight and structure. Whether light and airy or full and grounding, body gives shape to the cup.

Texture is often overlooked, yet essential. Smooth, brisk, velvety, or tannic — texture influences how the tea moves across the palate.

Finish is the final impression. A clean finish is bright and refreshing; a long finish is warm, deep, and lingering.

When all these elements are in balance, the blend feels intentional. No single ingredient dominates. Everything belongs.

Classic Black Tea Blends: Dependable by Design

Classic black tea blends demonstrate blending in its most traditional form: layering origins so each plays a distinct role.

Assam contributes depth, malt, and a fuller body.

Ceylon adds brightness, briskness, and a clean citrusy lift.

Kenyan teas bring structure, bold color, and a steady backbone.

Chinese black teas, such as Keemun, round out the blend with smoothness and subtle sweetness.

Together, these components create a layered cup greater than the sum of its parts.

English Breakfast: A classic balance of malty depth from Assam and bright citrus snap from Ceylon. The result is an honest, forthright cup with no embellishment needed.

Irish Breakfast: Here, the Assam rises to the front. Strong, brisk, and full-bodied, it's a blend built for those who like their tea with a sense of purpose.

Scottish Breakfast: The deepest of the three, often with a darker character that hints of smoke and earth. Keemun or other Chinese black teas may play a role in rounding out the blend.

Earl Grey: Bergamot may be the signature, but the base tea determines whether that citrus note glides or overwhelms. A smooth, balanced base — often Ceylon or Keemun — creates enough space for the bergamot to feel elegant instead of aggressive. In other words, the most successful flavored teas are still built on the same blending principle: support the starring note without letting it take over the entire stage.

Herbal Blends and Botanicals: Blending Beyond the Tea Leaf

Botanicals, though beyond the Camellia sinensis family, follow the same principles of harmony and contrast. Herbal bases offer a generous canvas for blending, each one bringing its own mood and melody.

South African Rooibos offers warmth and comfort, wrapping the cup in a soft, toasty depth. South African Honeybush drifts in with natural sweetness and a smooth, sun-kissed finish that welcomes fruit and spice. Hibiscus flowers brighten the blend with tart sparkle and a jewel-toned hue. Mint clears the palate with a cool, clean breeze. Chamomile brings gentle floral softness that settles everything into calm.

A Simple Blending Structure for Herbals

Herbal blends invite creativity, but balance still matters. Too many strong ingredients compete. A well-structured blend often includes:

- A base note (rooibos, honeybush)
- A body note (ginger, lemongrass)
- An aromatic top note (mint, citrus peel, rose)

Even in herbal blends, restraint is its own form of artistry.

How Professional Blenders Build a Blend

Most professional blenders follow a methodical process:

1. Cup teas individually to understand their character.
2. Build small trial batches, sometimes only a few grams.
3. Evaluate aroma, cup color, flavor, mouthfeel, and finish over multiple infusions.
4. Adjust ratios until the blend feels clear and purposeful.
5. Revisit the blend the next day when a reset palate often reveals what was missing or what was too much.

Blending is rarely a one-and-done process. It's a conversation.

Create Your Own Blend at Home

Blending at home is both simple and deeply rewarding. Start with intention. Before you reach for any leaves or botanicals, pause and ask: what mood or moment do you want this tea to evoke? Are you seeking something bright and enlivening for the morning? Something comforting for the afternoon? Something gentle and quiet for late evening? A clear purpose will give the blend direction.

Once you know the feeling, choose a base to match. Black tea offers strength and warmth. Oolong lends nuance and complexity. Green tea brings freshness and a gentle lift. An herbal base invites creativity and freedom that allows botanicals to lead the way.

Add supportive notes slowly. Start with one or two ingredients that complement the base rather than overpower it. Let each element speak. Resist the temptation to complicate.

Taste, adjust, and taste again. Even small changes — an extra gram of Assam, a touch less hibiscus, a pinch more mint — can shift the entire character of the cup. Over the course of a few days, return to your blend with a refreshed palate. The most elegant blends are often the simplest.

Conclusion: Tradition, Creativity, and the Cup You Create

Tea blending lives at the crossroads of tradition and creativity. It's a craft shaped by centuries of trade, terroir, and technique, yet always invites personal expression.

Whether you're enjoying a sturdy breakfast blend or experimenting with herbs from your own garden, blending turns tea into something alive: an evolving dialogue between origin, intention, and the senses.
